PART A – BACKGROUND

Introduction

The City of Yarra (CoY) has a vibrant and multi-faceted heritage, shaped by its rich history and diverse community. The Wurundjeri people are the Traditional Owners of the land on which the CoY is situated. Today evidence of the various layers of the City's natural, cultural and urban history can be experienced throughout the municipality.

Yarra City Council (YCC) fully appreciates the importance of its role in the management of the City's significant heritage, and it is committed to work with the wider community to conserve and enhance this heritage while embracing positive change in the municipality.

Purpose

The City of Yarra Heritage Strategy ('the Strategy') is a key document that defines YCC's strategic approach to the management of heritage. It defines key priorities that are important for developing and promoting a greater understanding of heritage within the community and recommends key actions and measures intended to achieve better protection and management of the City's heritage places and assets.

Scope

The Strategy builds on the previous Strategy (2015-2019) that set out the responsibilities of YCC in identifying, assessing, documenting and protecting its cultural heritage, both pre-settlement and post-settlement. The scope of the new Strategy has been broadened to include the natural heritage of the municipality, mirroring the holistic approach to heritage adopted nationally and internationally.

The Strategy is applicable to all elements of heritage, from tangible features such as historical buildings and precincts, landscapes, streetscapes, archaeological sites, objects, collections and records, to intangible elements such as cultural practices, stories, traditions, folklore and other knowledge that is inherited over generations. The Strategy focuses on those aspects of the City's cultural and natural heritage for which YCC has direct responsibility or the opportunity to positively influence.

The actions developed to fulfil this responsibility respond to four key Strategic Directions in accordance with Heritage Victoria's Municipal Heritage Strategies Guide for Councils. These are:

- Knowing our heritage;
- Protecting our heritage;
- Supporting our heritage, and;
- Promoting and Celebrating our Heritage

A number of departments at YCC are involved in the management of heritage in the CoY. The Strategy recognises that actions that are 'business as usual' will be continued by various departments. Therefore this Strategy focuses only on the strategic actions that are important for proactively improving the management of heritage in CoY in the coming years and sets out an action plan that is both achievable and accountable over the life of the new Strategy. The strategy also identifies that the implementation of some heritage outcomes requires support from key external organisations and service authorities

Process

Development of the Strategy followed a consultative process in which YCC's Heritage Advisory Committee (HAC) has played an instrumental role. A subgroup from the HAC guided the structure and focus throughout the drafting process, and YCC also undertook several stages of wider community engagement. Internal departments responsible for different aspects of heritage management have provided input at different stages in the development of the Strategy to ensure that the implementation actions are achievable and so that they can be embedded in YCC's core business.

The development of the Yarra Heritage Strategy 2019-2030 has included the following steps:

- Review of the previous Heritage Strategy 2015-2018 and the implementation plan;
- Understanding the historical, legislative and policy, strategic and community context;
- Meetings with YCC's Heritage Advisory Committee;
- Liaison with YCC departments;
- Community survey, through YCC's web platform;
- Meetings and workshop with external stakeholders and interest groups;
- Discussion with YCC Executive; and
- Public Exhibition.

Timeframe

Responding to the processes, time-frames and resource implications of the proposed actions, this strategy adopts a 10 year implementation time frame with a proposal for the periodic review of the implementation plan after every four years.

Context

The CoY was formed following the 1994 amalgamation of the former cities of Collingwood, Fitzroy, Richmond, and parts of Northcote and Melbourne. It now incorporates the suburbs of Abbotsford, Burnley, Clifton Hill, Collingwood, Cremorne, Fitzroy, North Carlton, North Fitzroy, Princes Hill and Richmond, together with parts of Alphington and Fairfield. Areas of the municipality have been important gathering places for Aboriginal people for thousands of years. The CoY is bound by the Yarra River (traditionally known as ‘Birrarung’) on three sides. The river corridor has significant natural and cultural heritage values, especially for the region’s Wurundjeri Traditional Owners.

The Historical Context

The Wurundjeri people of the Kulin Nation are the Traditional Owners of the place that we know today as the City of Yarra. Their relationship with the City extends back tens of thousands of years to when their creator spirit ‘Bunjil’ formed their people, the land and all living things. The Birrarung is a rich natural and now managed landscape that was and remains integral to Aboriginal people’s sense of place. This is also true of other watercourses in the municipality, including the Merri Creek in particular.

Archaeological evidence of Aboriginal occupation can be found throughout the municipality, especially along its watercourses, together with scar trees. The banks of the Yarra River, once intensively used for industry, are now also highly valued green spaces for leisure and recreation.

The suburbs that are now part of the CoY initially developed from 1839 as residential areas to house the Colony’s growing population. The establishment of industries along the Yarra River provided employment for the new arrivals in a period of rapid population growth. Industrial and commercial life grew and centralised around the early locales of Fitzroy, Collingwood, Abbotsford and Richmond.

The CoY includes some of Melbourne’s earliest established suburbs, whose history remains evident in the significant nineteenth and early twentieth century architecture, subdivision pattern, street furniture, parklands, trees and other elements. Rows of cohesive streetscapes with single storey workers cottages and double storey terraces exist with middle class villas and landmark civic and religious buildings. The layout of the suburbs of Fitzroy, Richmond and Princes Hill is largely mid Victorian in design. However, the evidence of slum clearance in the form of 1960s–70s tower developments has dramatically changed the physical form of some of these areas. Abbotsford, Collingwood and parts of Richmond and Fitzroy developed largely as manufacturing areas with industry and residential development existing side by side. Following the Second World War, rapid growth and population change have brought diversity and physical transformation to the suburbs of Yarra.

The CoY also has a number of late Victorian and Edwardian shopping strips that exhibit consistent streetscapes of heritage facades and shop fronts. These centres contribute to the economic prosperity of the CoY. The population boom of the last two decades has added enormous pressure for redevelopment of underutilised ex-industrial and large sites, especially in and around the shopping strips, and this has started to impact the character and feel of these places.

The municipal history of the CoY is reflected in its notable public and civic buildings, such as the Fitzroy Town Hall (1874), Collingwood Town Hall (1887) and Richmond Town Hall (1890). The Royal Exhibition Building and Carlton Gardens (located immediately adjacent to the CoY) witnessed the opening of the first Australian Parliament in 1901, as well as the great exhibitions of 1880 and 1888. It is important that the heritage of these places is celebrated and conserved.

The Community Context

The CoY is an inner-city municipality in close proximity to the Melbourne Central Business District (CBD), thereby enjoying access to public transport, active strip shopping centres, parks and recreation areas with a particular focus around the corridor of the Yarra River. In the second half of the 20th century the CoY welcomed successive waves of immigrants, initially from Britain and Europe and then Asia, who continue to contribute to the cultural diversity of the place. In recent years Yarra has experienced consistent economic and population growth (an estimated increase of 98,521 for 2018 alone¹), but the diverse population of the municipality, including its large resident and visiting Aboriginal community, retain strong and enduring connections with the area and its heritage. The CoY is now a culturally and linguistically diverse municipality with 23% of residents speaking a language other than English. Nearly one third of the population is in the age group of 25-34 and approximately half of the households are renters. This indicates that YCC needs to develop strategies to engage a young and changing population with the heritage.

Various consultations in the past few years have indicated that heritage is one of the characteristics of Yarra most valued by the community. Local historical societies play an active role in documenting and promoting the history and heritage of the CoY, and there are also other community and advocacy groups concerned with protecting heritage.

The Legislative and Policy Context

Heritage places in Australia are protected by Federal, State and Local Government legislation or regulations. A list of the relevant legislation is attached in the reference section at the end of this report. The management requirements for such places depend on the level of their recognised heritage significance.

Local Government plays an important role in heritage conservation; from its identification and appropriate statutory protection, to the management of change in the urban environment and celebration of its diverse heritage. The Yarra Planning Scheme includes the vision and strategic directions for future planning and development of the municipality which are brought into effect through a number of planning provisions and the requirements of local planning policies (such as for built environment and heritage), zones and overlays such as Heritage Overlay, Design and Development overlay etc.

The Victorian Government has the main responsibility for managing and legislating for the protection and listing of State and Locally significant heritage. It also provides oversight and education through its relevant heritage agencies; Heritage Victoria and Aboriginal Victoria, and other agencies such as Parks Victoria are concerned with both the natural and cultural heritage of the State.

As independent statutory bodies, the Victorian Heritage Council and Aboriginal Heritage Council are respectively responsible for the Victorian Heritage Register (VHR) – that recognises places of state level heritage significance – and the Victorian Aboriginal Heritage Register (VAHR). Historical archaeology in Victoria is managed by Heritage Victoria, including through listing of sites of known potential archaeological significance on Victorian Heritage Inventory (VHI). Commonwealth Government has a responsibility for cultural and natural heritage through the National Heritage List and the World Heritage List.

Inclusion of a property on a heritage overlay also requires owner of a heritage place to play a key role in the protection and management of the heritage aspects. This includes taking account of cultural significance and conservation requirements in day-to-day as well as in considering further development opportunities. Owners of properties with heritage value must undertake regular maintenance to protect condition and integrity, and seek professional advice for sympathetic change when physically impacting the place or altering its use. Any major change to the place must comply with the relevant planning provisions. Further, if the opportunity arises, the owner can assist in educating the wider community on the importance of the place. Importantly, approximately 70% of properties in the CoY are included in the Heritage Overlay. These places include residential, commercial, industrial and civic buildings and are mostly located in one of the 54 heritage precincts in the CoY. The Heritage Overlay also applies to a number of parks and landscapes within the municipality. A substantial number of places are included in the Victorian Heritage Register by virtue of their State-level heritage significance. Abbotsford Convent is a significant asset in Yarra that has been recently included in the National Heritage List, while the UNESCO World Heritage listed Royal Exhibition Building and Carlton Gardens are located just outside the municipal boundary, with parts of Fitzroy in the south western corner of the municipality included in the World Heritage Environs Area buffer zone.

The State Government introduced the Yarra River Protection (Wilip-gin Birrarung murrnong) Act in 2017. There is a Yarra River 50 Year Community Vision prepared as a part of its implementation which has a focus on understanding and respecting the history of the river, celebrating the vital and continued role of the Traditional Owners its custodians and recognising its role in their culture. The State Government is currently preparing a Yarra Strategic Plan with priority actions for the coming years. Once this plan is finalised, actions relating to protecting and commemorating cultural heritage of the river will need to be developed to supplement the action plans in this Strategy, to provide an integrated and collaborative approach to heritage conservation, enhancement and interpretation.

Strategic Context

Plan Melbourne (2017-2050)

Plan Melbourne (2017-2050) is the State Government's long term planning strategy to manage growth and development in metropolitan Melbourne. While Plan Melbourne advocates for accommodating new housing in activity centres near places that offer good access to jobs, services and public transport, it relies on preserving Melbourne's uniqueness as one of the key principles for planning for the future, and specifies its heritage as one of the city's distinctive qualities.

Direction 4.4 of Plan Melbourne undertakes to:

“Respect Melbourne’s Heritage as we build for the future”.

It also includes the following policy goals to help implement this direction:

- Recognise the value of heritage when managing growth and change
- Respect and protect Melbourne’s Aboriginal cultural heritage
- Stimulate economic growth through heritage conservation
- Protect Melbourne’s heritage through telling its stories.

Council Plan 2017-2021

YCC’s Council Plan 2017-2021 sets out priorities and direction for the Council until 2021, and one of its key objectives is that development and growth are managed to maintain and enhance the character and heritage of the city. This is supported by several strategies, including relating to acknowledging and celebrating Aboriginal history (Strategy 2.3) and supporting and empowering a more sustainable Council and Community (Strategy 3.2). Strategy 4.1 is “Protect Yarra’s heritage and neighbourhood character”, under which a main initiative (4.1.1) is to strengthen the protection of Yarra’s heritage through the planning scheme, education, and resource provision.

Other Strategies of the Council

A number of service areas of YCC include the management of heritage amongst their responsibilities. A list of the various YCC strategies of that relate to heritage is provided in the Reference section.

The Burra Charter

The Australia ICOMOS Charter for the Conservation of Places of Cultural Significance (2013)- the ‘Burra Charter’, and its practice notes provide conservation best-practice guidance and principles to inform decision making. More detailed information on the Burra Charter can be accessed at: <https://australia.icomos.org/>

As one of the three municipalities in Melbourne’s Inner Metro Region (together with the Cities of Melbourne and Port Phillip) the CoY has been experiencing significant development pressure in activity centres, underutilised industrial sites and mixed use and employment precincts. In this scenario of growth and change it is important that Burra Charter principles of conservation are correctly applied to ensure a clear voice for heritage in planning and management decision making.

Heritage Management in Yarra and Achievements to Date

YCC and the Yarra community have been in the forefront of heritage identification and protection for many years, the CoY having been one of the first municipalities in Victoria to systematically study its heritage and protect places of value.

A number of heritage studies have been undertaken in the past covering the entire municipality. The studies have also identified potential future heritage survey work to fill in the gaps. There are excellent local history collections in the CoY libraries, while Yarra's Arts and Cultural Services unit also maintains arts and objects of heritage significance. YCC has launched a web application (PastPort) to document Yarra's history and heritage through community participation.

To support the protection and management of CoY's heritage, the findings of its many heritage studies have been implemented into the planning scheme through the Heritage Overlay, covering buildings, precincts, parks and gardens. YCC also has the responsibility to manage and maintain its own heritage buildings. YCC provides ongoing funding to the Victorian Heritage Restoration Fund (Yarra Heritage Restoration Fund) to provide financial assistance for restoration works, and also provides ongoing support to local historical societies.

Many departments of YCC are involved in the management of heritage in its different aspects. Departments with collective responsibility for the management of built heritage include City Strategy (Strategic Planning, Urban Design and Open Space units), Statutory Planning, Building and Asset Management, City Works, Recreation and Leisure Services, Arts, Culture and Venues. Various aspects of Aboriginal cultural heritage of the CoY are managed by the Community Partnerships unit and the Statutory Planning unit, whilst that of natural heritage is the responsibility of the Open Space unit, Recreation and Leisure Services; City Works (Biodiversity, Streetscapes and Natural Values units) and the Environment unit.

A Heritage Advisory Committee (HAC) has been re-established to advise on strategic heritage matters, whilst YCC employs three part-time heritage advisors to provide advice on planning applications. The CoY also has an in house Senior Advisor City Heritage to advise on significant and strategic heritage matters.

YCC has initiated an Aboriginal History of Yarra website and the Aboriginal Heritage Walking Trail to further the understanding of the Aboriginal history of the area. Interpretative signage exists for some streets and buildings within the municipality, and the CoY website and Yarra Libraries provide access to YCC's heritage studies and other relevant heritage information. YCC participates in heritage festivals and Open House Melbourne, and it has recently launched a community heritage awards to recognise and honour community members (individuals or groups) for their contribution to the protection and enhancement of Yarra's history and heritage.

Key Community Concerns and Directions

Various consultations in the past few years have indicated that heritage is one of the characteristics of Yarra that is most valued by the community. Local historical societies play an active role in documenting and promoting the history and heritage of Yarra, and there are also other community groups advocating for heritage protection and management.

The community engagement undertaken during the preparation of this Strategy identified a series of main themes that are important to the community for the future management of heritage in Yarra. These are that:

- More control is needed around buildings heights and intensity of new development;
- More focus needs to be placed on social/cultural/arts - stories and creative sharing;
- There is concern around the trend towards facadism,— the retention of only the fronts of buildings, with the corresponding loss of other built heritage fabric;
- Graffiti/vandalism is a problem in the municipality that effects its cultural heritage. There are also too many advertising signs in the built environment and impact on the heritage qualities;
- There is a need for more heritage related information and interpretative signage;
- There is a need to develop a better understanding of, and protect, different layers of history;
- The quality and consistency of information on the heritage of the municipality needs to be improved, as does the community's access to it;
- Greater provision of heritage advisory services to the community is necessary;
- Aboriginal heritage should be better recognised in the municipality;
- Natural heritage should be better recognised in the municipality;
- There is a need for YCC to strengthen its existing provisions and management framework to improve the overall response to heritage; and
- Alterations to heritage properties to achieve universal access or improved sustainability – in particular through installation of solar panels, are recurring issues for YCC.

A workshop attended by representatives of key community organisations, developers and heritage practitioners identified a key desirable outcome to be increased capacity to manage heritage within YCC, with the concept of a dedicated heritage department/unit receiving significant support.

Challenges and Opportunities

Current challenges and opportunities have been identified based on the discussions with various stakeholders, including internal YCC departments involved in the management of heritage, and the Heritage Advisory Committee. The community concerns and feedback derived from community surveys, stakeholder workshops and public exhibition of the draft Strategy have also been taken into consideration. Opportunities and challenges have been identified relative to the Strategy's Strategic Directions, and these are set out in the table below which provide the basis for the Strategic Priorities, later discussed in the report.

Strategic Direction - Knowing our Heritage

Challenges are: A large number of precinct heritage overlays, but a lack of awareness and understanding among the community. Need to ensure that Statements of Significance and mapping for many heritage places are accurate, consistent, up-to-date and in line with current standards. Need to review citations to identify places of historic and contemporary significance to Aboriginal people, intangible significance; social value etc. and to provide clear distinction between places of contributory and individual significant within precincts.	Opportunities to: Make information about the precincts and citations more accessible to the community. Improve the consistency and standard of documentation for heritage places to enable more efficient and effective management. The breadth of values recorded can also be increased to provide a more holistic record of Yarra's heritage.
The Thematic History of Yarra is very old. It needs to be reviewed and updated to make it more relevant and current. A lack of awareness about the thematic history of Yarra as it is not easily accessible.	Expand the scope of the Thematic History to explore additional themes, for example Aboriginal and natural aspects of heritage and the changes that recent development is producing. Use increased relevance to help raise awareness of the Thematic History, and access to it.
Previous heritage studies have not focussed on post-war heritage. This period needs to be further investigated, with places protected, so that this important part of the City's heritage is not lost.	Undertake further gap studies, for example focussing on post-war heritage.
There is a need for the natural heritage of Yarra, including trees of heritage significance, to be recognised and protected.	Develop a database of areas of natural heritage significance, including trees of heritage significance.

Strategic Direction - Protecting and Managing our Heritage

Challenges are: To conserve and protect the CoY's cultural and natural heritage, including maintaining its historic character, while also meeting the demands for high-density development where appropriate.	Opportunities to: Ensure that the planning vision of the municipality as well as heritage, urban design, activity centres built form and ESD policies have a stronger focus on heritage in YCC's current major review and rewrite of its planning scheme.
Yarra is experiencing a high level of development pressure, particularly in its key heritage streetscapes. Development must be managed and issues such as facadism and over development addressed to avoid compromising the integrity of heritage streetscapes.	Review activity centre precinct citations and provide greater clarity and surety to inform heritage management decisions. Update the citations through Planning Scheme amendments and prepare and introduce appropriate development controls.
The local community is constantly indicating a need to improve the response of YCC's various service units towards heritage aspects such as in graffiti management, upkeep of gardens, trees, streetscape elements, bluestone laneways and signage.	Review YCC's heritage management structure and framework so that heritage values are better recognised in its planning and place making framework. Reference and link to other strategies and policies of the Council so that heritage aspects can be better managed. Lead by example by improving management of Council's own heritage assets.
Making heritage buildings meet contemporary requirements, including for environmental sustainability measures and disability access, is challenging.	Prepare innovative strategies and guidelines to promote adaptation and reuse of heritage places, making them ESD compliant and accessible to all.

Strategic Direction - Supporting our Heritage

Challenges are:	Opportunities to:
YCC's heritage advisors are currently operating at full capacity and are generally unable to be utilised by members of the community at the pre-application stage.	Enable better heritage management decisions in the community through expansion of the heritage advisory service.
Large-scale redevelopment of old factories, warehouses and commercial areas is leading to the loss of historic fabric and change in the overall historic landscape.	Work collaboratively with landowners, developers and local heritage groups to develop sound heritage interpretation strategies to document and interpret places where change has been allowed. In so doing, maintain a link to the past for current and future generations.
Local historical societies and some local community groups are involved in documenting and promoting history and heritage. But their activities are limited by lack of resources.	Include a stream targeted towards heritage promotion in CoY's community grants program.
There is a general lack of awareness of heritage and planning principles amongst place owners, developers and the wider community, as well as YCC managers.	Improve the information base with topic based reference sheets, 'dos and don'ts', resident's kit etc. Document oral histories and catalogue them so that they can be easily accessed by the community. Initiate in house training programs to develop better understanding of the application of Burra Charter principles and other aspects of heritage management within YCC.

Strategic Direction - Promoting and Celebrating Heritage

Challenges are:	Opportunities to:
Current heritage discourse in the CoY is largely focussed on historical built form, and there is a need to complement this with by improving the recognition and understanding of other aspects of heritage such as Aboriginal, social and natural heritage.	Provide resources to promote new ways of seeing the heritage of the CoY through projects, events and interpretative strategies focussing on heritage aspects other than the historical built form.
Heritage is an aspect of the CoY enjoyed by the wider community. However there is a lack of shared responsibility in its promotion, maintenance and upkeep by the community.	Support organisations such as historical societies who are making positive contributions to the promotion of heritage in Yarra. Develop partnerships with the developers where possible.
It is difficult to keep the changing resident population engaged with heritage. This is especially true of certain demographics, including the youth of Yarra, the student population and recent immigrants.	Prepare a Heritage Communication Strategy around regular updates on events and initiatives related to heritage. Use new technologies in the presentation and communication of heritage information. Enable Yarra Libraries to take a more proactive role in promoting heritage and display programs. Engage students in heritage which could lead to long-term appreciation of heritage values.
Heritage is an aspect of the CoY enjoyed by the wider community. However there is a lack of shared responsibility in its promotion, maintenance and upkeep by the community.	Support organisations such as historical societies who are making positive contributions to the promotion of heritage in Yarra. Develop partnerships with the developers where possible.

PART B – THE STRATEGY

The Strategy recognises the strong presence and high importance of heritage in CoY and provides a long-term vision and practical and achievable direction to improve the management of heritage over the next ten years. It will be achieved through an Implementation Framework that supports an implementation plan of priority actions with achievable measures and timeframes.

Vision and Direction

The Council's vision for heritage in the CoY is as follows:

The City of Yarra is known as a place where our rich natural, Aboriginal, built and other cultural heritage is nurtured, protected and celebrated: It helps to define the city's identity, support its diverse living culture and is valued by current and future generations.

To achieve this vision the aim of the four Strategic Directions will be:

Knowing our Heritage

To improve our understanding of heritage of Yarra by identifying places that are important to us and ensuring that information about them is comprehensive and publicly accessible.

Protecting and Managing our Heritage

To develop and promote a robust policy and management framework that makes heritage a primary consideration in all elements of planning and place-making. YCC will also lead by example and demonstrate best-practice heritage management of its own properties and assets.

Supporting our Heritage

To support our heritage through a proactive involvement of YCC and the community in the management, care and conservation of our heritage.

Promoting and celebrating our Heritage

To celebrate heritage as a community, enhancing its value for all.

The Strategy responds to the goals of Plan Melbourne 2017-2050 (the State Government's long term planning strategy for metropolitan Melbourne) about value of heritage in managing growth and change. It places priority for strengthening YCC's local planning vision, directions and heritage policies to reflect value of heritage in Yarra consistent with the Strategy vision. It also facilitates improved recognition of Aboriginal and natural heritage values in Yarra and suggests priority actions for improving YCC's management framework and ability to manage heritage in Yarra holistically.

Strategic Priorities

Against the four Strategic Directions, eight 'Priority Areas' have been identified that together provide scope to address what are considered the most pressing heritage issues for the municipality.

These Priority Areas are summarised in the following table.

Strategic Direction Priority Area
Knowing our heritage	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Improved Statements of Significance and Precinct Citations Natural Heritage
Protecting and managing our heritage	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Strengthening existing provisions and management framework Managing YCC's Own Heritage Assets
Supporting our heritage	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Heritage Advice World Heritage
Promoting and Celebrating our heritage	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Aboriginal Heritage Heritage Promotion and Community Access to Information

With reference to the full range of activities identified as desirable, but recognising that not everything can be achieved immediately, the above priorities were identified by YCC's Heritage Advisory Committee and supported through community workshops and meetings with YCC Executives.

The above priority areas identified for the strategic direction inform the action plan. As the Strategy has a 10 year horizon, the activities need to be set within the context of an implementation plan.

Under the Strategic Direction of 'knowing our heritage', the need to improve the existing baseline of knowledge to ensure fully informed decision making has drawn attention to the need for improved Statements of Significance and Precinct Citations, whilst the inclusion of natural heritage in the new Strategy prompts the need to understand the heritage values of natural features of the CoY, such as its flora and fauna, geology and waterways, better.

Under 'protecting and managing our heritage', improving heritage management requires that Council areas that are currently in operation be functioning at an optimal level. There is also a need to strengthen mechanisms such as planning policies and controls to better manage issues of overdevelopment and loss of heritage fabric etc. Hence the focus should be on strengthening existing provisions and on improving management framework, with a single unit or department having oversight on heritage issues. YCC also seeks to set a good example in Yarra by ensuring that the management of its own heritage assets, including YCC owned and/or managed buildings, landscapes and community places, is effective and in line with best practice.

The Strategic Direction of 'supporting our heritage' is directly served by a focus on improving and expanding access to YCC's heritage advice services, to enable the wider community to undertake more informed and appropriate development in and around places of heritage significance. Parts of Yarra are adjacent to one of Victoria's two World Heritage places in the form of the Royal Exhibition Building. This world heritage environs precinct presents an excellent opportunity and a focal point to raise the profile of the broader cultural heritage in the municipality.

As regards promoting and celebrating the heritage of the municipality, consultation has strongly identified the need to raise the profile of its Aboriginal heritage, whilst the general promotion of heritage, facilitated by improved access to information, is universally desirable.

Implementation Framework

The Strategy will be implemented through the following key steps.

Implement

While heritage management is part of the duty of care for all Council departments, the implementation of priority actions will be the responsibility of the assigned Lead Department.

The Implementation Plan section below includes a tentative timeframe for implementation of those actions. However, available funding may influence the detail, scale and timing of implemented actions.

YCC will also be engaging with the Heritage Advisory Committee to obtain their views and feedback on strategic heritage issues. New opportunities will be sought to create effective partnerships with community groups that are making positive contributions to promoting and supporting heritage in Yarra. This will include YCC actively seeking opportunities to engage and develop partnerships with historical societies, local groups, community and developers in protection, promotion and celebration of heritage.

Monitor

The progress and success of each individual action will be monitored by YCC's Senior Advisor City Heritage.

At the beginning of each year, departments with responsibility for actions under the Strategy will confirm with the Senior Advisor City Heritage which actions will be progressed in that year. They will also provide a six monthly update on the progress of the actions in hand and any likely delays. The Senior Advisor City Heritage will provide a six monthly update to the HAC about the progress of the Strategy actions.

The Senior Advisor City Heritage will prepare a formal report to Council on the key successes of the Strategy in progress, and any resulting challenges, annually.

Review

It is anticipated that the implementation table will be reviewed and revised every four years and reported to Council.

Future actions will be determined by examining the success of the short term priority actions. New actions may be progressed during the lifetime of this Strategy, or they will become a priority for future iterations.

The Heritage Strategy will be reviewed after 10 years. The next review and update to this strategy should take place in 2030.

Business as Usual

It is important to acknowledge that many departments manage aspects of the municipality's heritage as part of their 'business as usual' activities, in line with legislation, established YCC policies and strategies and specific place management plans.

This work will continue in conjunction with the activities that arise from the Strategy.

Implementation Plan

The following Implementation Plan comprises the Priority Actions that have been identified for each of the Priority Areas through the development of the Strategy. Each of these has been assigned a timeframe of short term (0-5) years or long term (0-10) years, or it will be ongoing from now until the end of the Strategy's 10 year implementation time frame.

Priority Actions

Knowing our Heritage

We will improve our understanding of heritage in our community by identifying places that are important to us and ensuring that information around those values is comprehensive and publicly accessible
